

We're cheeseburgers and fries for a vanload of hungry league champs.

*We're pancakes for family
brunch on Sunday.*

We're anniversary dinner at the same table where you popped the question.

We were your first job.

Restaurants are part of who we are as Americans.

A cornerstone of America's economy, restaurants are the nation's largest private-sector employers, generating an annual economic impact of $1 trillion. Every dollar spent dining out generates more than two dollars for other industries.

Dining out is an important way to resume our daily lives, demonstrate our resolve and help keep America's economy strong.

Restaurateurs nationwide are donating food, resources and other assistance at this time of common purpose. For more information about how the National Restaurant Association, its state association partners, restaurant businesses and employees join you in proudly serving America, visit www.restaurant.org.
